

By the Athenian it appears, that at the late term of the Superior Court of Gwinnett county, four of the missionaries resident among the Cherokee Indians were arraigned for refusing to comply with the required oath of obedience to our laws. Two of them were bound over to appear at the next court, to answer the charge; the other two were released, on the ground that they held offices under the general government.