
THE CHEROKEE MISSIONARIES.—Some interesting letters from the Missionaries among the Cherokees, now suffering from the cruel and unconstitutional oppression of Georgia, will be found in our preceding columns. We recommend them to the grave perusal of our readers, feeling it to be our imperative duty to record the abuses, which in an age of light and a land of liberty, are practised in the face of Heaven and permitted by a Christian community. We fulfil our duty by simply recording them; because, if no sympathy is awakened by the plain narrative, comments would be superfluous.
