

The Election is over and would that we could say "the long agony is over" with it—that "the Bourbons were restored"—to that "post of honor, a private station;" but the returns come in slowly and all is yet vague and uncertain. From those received, however, we have no cause to despair. The Constitution, at least, we think to be safe. We give below the result in this county. Clark has done herself credit. The Troup Party has been true to itself and the vote on the question of Ratification proves that many, very many of our Clark friends at least in this county, are more attached to principle than to party. Maj. Thomas Mitchell was elected without opposition.
