

Important Correction.

A part of our impression last week contained a most important error for ourselves, which our friends in the direction of Milledgeville, Monroe and Lawrenceville, will please notice particularly; as our packages for the offices supplied by those mails were made up before the error was discovered.

In Judge Clayton's letter on the subject of the gold bill, which we published in reference to our controversy with the Whig, he is made to say, that "pure gold will be worth, &c." It should have read, "pure gold taken from the mines, &c." This omission was truly unfortunate, as it was the very hinge on which our controversy with the Whig turned.
