

---

This morning the President leaves us, on his way to Savannah, accompanied by General GAIXER, and will be escorted as far as Ashley River, by the military. We understand that he takes Beaufort by his route, and that he contemplates passing a day or two with his venerable companion in arms, General CHARLES COTESWORTH PINCKNEY, at Pinckney's Island. He will not probably reach Savannah before this day week.

Charleston Cour. May 3.

---